"An average plan well executed beats a brilliant plan done poorly"

In detail

Martin was President of PepsiCo UK, a merger of Walkers Snacks Foods, Pepsi Cola, Tropicana and Quaker Foods. PepsiCo UK had a turnover and profits approaching $450m. He was also President of Walkers Snack Foods, whom he joined in 1992, working his way up from Director of New Product Development to Vice-President of Marketing, where, in 1985, he introduced the on-going, highly acclaimed, Gary Lineker advertising campaign and launched the 'Doritos' brand. He was responsible for the dramatic growth of Walkers Crisps and became President of PepsiCo in 1998. In 2006, Martin joined Birds Eye Iglo where he led the turnaround of the Group and in October 2010 the Group acquired Findus Italy from Unilever - a move which took the total company size to Euro1.5bn.
